

Skin Cancers & Lesions Workshop

A rare chance to gain access to medical grade education with Dr Chris Dickey- a knowledgeable and passionate educator in skin cancers and skin lesions. Chris looks forward to working with you in this exclusive setting and taking you through more in depth training to further your clinical excellence.

OPEN ENTRY – no pre-requisites apply. This workshop is sponsored by NZ laser Training, giving you access to affordable education and on-going professional development.

“Thousands of clients are flocking into beauty and appearance medicine clinics around the country for a vast range of beauty treatments. How are you, the professional therapist or practitioner, supposed to recognise potential skin cancers or confidently know when you should be referring clients to see a skin specialist? What is normal and what is not? Can you recognise common skin lesions and determine which ones may be improved with IPL or Lasers, and which ones should be left well alone?”

Ruth also provides a brief overview on common laser options for treating skin lesions.

This workshop offers a special opportunity to share the knowledge of Dr Chris Dickey (a GP specialising in the diagnosis and removal of skin cancers and melanomas) and Ruth Nicholson (Medical grade clinical trainer and Director of NZ laser Training) to update your knowledge on all things 'skin lesion'. With Auckland Council bylaws now stating skin lesions should only be treated by a practitioner, how do you know what is considered a skin lesion? We'll discuss contraindications for treatment with IPL and laser, radio or high frequency / thermolysis. Know your lesions, know your limits!

Date: Tuesday 5th September 2017

Time: 10am – 2.30pm (Approx)
